Howard Elliott, Who Succeeds President Mellen, States His Attitude in Assuming Charge

New York, July 25.—Howard Elliott, president of the Northern Pacific, was elected this afternoon president and director of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. His election takes effect Sept. 1, 1913.

At this time only a president was selected. It was explained before the meeting that the proposed plan to have a chairman of the board in supreme control of the road, could not be put into effect at this meeting, because such a change would involve a change in the company's bylaws. This can be brought about only by a vote of the stockholders. The matter will probably come up at the annual meeting in October.

The reply of Mr. Elliott to the criticism of New Haven management made by Interstate Commerce Commissioner Troup was also considered, and if adopted, may be made public.

A meeting of the executive committee preceded the meeting of the full board of directors. Previous to this the members of the executive committee had luncheon with the members of the subcommittee and a conference between the two committees began at 1:30 p. m. The meeting of directors was scheduled for an hour later.

Mr. Elliott announced that he would have a statement to make late this afternoon, after the directors' meeting. He declined to say what this statement would contain.

The meeting of the directors of the New Haven Railroad this afternoon is expected to open a new era in the administration of the railroad, steamship and trolley lines controlled by that system. Wall Street is less interested in the personal of the new officers to be chosen than in the proposed changes in operating the financial policy.

Whatever changes in financial policy, if any, are recommended at today's meeting, such as the divorce of the new Haven's trolley lines, also will not be placed in effect, it was explained, until ratified by the stockholders.

The recommendations will go to the directors in the form of a report from the subcommittee appointed after the resignation of Pres. Mellen. This committee consists of J. P. Morgan, Theodore N. Vail, Samuel Ros. Williams Skinner, Edward Milligan, and Robert W. Taft.

ADMITS HE FEELS STRAIN OF PROBE

Attorneys for Federation of Labor Will be Allowed to Question Witness

Washington, July 25.—With only about 1000 more of Martin M. Mulhall's letters to read into the record, the senate lobby investigating committee adjourned today until Monday expecting to wind up the correspondence of the lobbyists.

Toward the close of the day's session Mulhall showed signs of strain he has been under. He became confused during the reading of one letter, and when Senator Welsh suggested that he needed a rest exclaimed: "I'm just about broken down. For God's sake do have mercy if you can. I don't want to say I'm breaking down, but I don't want to answer questions if you'll let me go."

Chairman Overman announced today that attorneys for the National Association of Manufacturers and the American Federation of Labor would be allowed to question the witness, through the committee, proposed they submit questions 24 hours before hand and receive our committee's approval. Senator Nelson had a talk with the Democratic members before the decision was announced and it is known that he protested vigorously against allowing Mulhall's story to stand without examination by the lawyers for the organizations involved.

During the hearing today a sharp debate occurred among members of the committee about whether foreign manufacturers and exporters had influenced tariff reductions in the present bill.

COMMISSION WILL MAKE NO CHANGE

Says It Has No Jurisdiction Over the Postal Service Compensation.

Washington, July 25.—Public hearings will not be held by the interstate commerce commission upon the expediency of the changes proposed by the Postoffice Department in the rates and zones and weights of parcel post matter. In a statement issued today, the commission says it has no jurisdiction over the compensation paid by the postal service for handling the mails. In part the statement follows:

"The commission does not consider that the provision of the parcel post act to the effect that certain changes may be made by the Postmaster General with the consent of the commission shall necessarily hold hearings on such proposals, but, when, after such investigation, as it deems fit, the commission is satisfied that the proposed changes are in order to promote the service to the public or to insure the receipt of revenue from such service adequate to pay the cost thereof, it is proper for the commission to give its consent to the change."

"The question of compensation to the carriers for handling the mails is a matter of contract between them and the postoffice department in connection with which the commission has no jurisdiction."

In answer to criticism of his proposed reduction of rates and the increase of size of parcel post packages, Postmaster General Burleson appeared today before the senate postoffice committee with Chairman Clark of the interstate commerce commission.

The Postmaster General read a letter from the interstate commerce commission stating that it was satisfied conditions were such as to prevent the shipment by the parcel post of many articles, and that the proposed changes were in order to promote the service to the public.

Senator Bristow said he believed the Postmaster General had authority to change the rates and zones if the interstate commerce commission approved. Other senators agreed, but questioned his authority to abandon the distinctive stamp.

"I felt that congress wanted the Postmaster General to go ahead and improve the service and not to be content with standing still," said Mr. Murless. "We are going to make money on this new business, and we will be able to make further reduction in rates."

DENOUNCE ATTEMPT TO STEAL GREENACRE

Resolution Passed by Loyal Friends on Miss Farmer's Birthday.

Appropriate exercises in connection with the observance of the birthday of Miss Sarah J. Farmer, the founder of Green Acre were held in the Kittery Friday afternoon and were largely attended. Mrs. Hoyin chairman of the week, presided and the first speaker was Frank J. Sanborn of Concord, Mass., one of Miss Farmer's oldest and staunchest friends.

Mr. Sanborn gave a number of interesting reminiscences of Miss Farmer telling of her visit to Chicago at the time of the World's Fair to attend the Parliament of Religion. It was here that she got the idea of establishing a Congress at Green Acre. He told of Miss Farmer's visit to Syria in 1900, where she went to study the religion of the Eastern World and Queen Olga was very much interested in her. He read a letter from Miss Farmer thanking the committee for their thoughtfulness in the celebrating of her birthday. He also expressed the thanks of her many friends for her recovery to health.

Dr. Phillmore Moore told of his first visit to Miss Farmer in 1883; of some of the vicissitudes and opposition that caused him to resign as chairman of the Mosaic School and the opposition encountered by Mrs. May Wright Sewall, who afterwards took charge. He stated that good support and financial aid were being accorded Green Acre this year. He advocated the plan of Madam Beliski to have the parliament of religion observed at Green Acre in 1919 on the 20th anniversary.

Madam Beliski read interesting memories of Miss Farmer's mother, telling of the establishment of Rosemary cottage in 1838 for the entertainment of the poor children of the big cities. Professor Putnam of Harvard University spoke of attending school with Miss Farmer and also told incidents connected with the career of her father, Moses G. Farmer, tenanted inventor. Mrs. Lucas of Boston sang.

The following resolutions were read and unanimously adopted:

The friends of Green Acre in conference assembled to bring Miss Farmer's birth week, are in entire sympathy with the Green Acre of Miss Farmer's ideals and are unalterably opposed to any attempt now or in the future to turn the platform of Green Acre into a sectarian platform.

This resolution was directly aimed at those who are interested in the Bahar movement and are endeavoring to steal Green Acre and erect a Pagan temple in its place.

At the conclusion of the exercises ice cream and cake were served.

Miss Farmer could not be present in person owing to her physical infirmities, but a letter of greeting to her friends was read by the chairman, as follows:

Dear Friends—Gratitude is due from me for all the arrangements that the committee of the Greenacre Conference have made for the celebration of my 66th birthday and today.

And I desire through them to express my thanks to all my friends who co-operate with me in carrying forward the work at Greenacre and under the times, in this quiet manner.

SARAH J. FARMER, Director of the Greenacre Conference.

The chairman called attention to the noble work done by Miss Louise Chapman Hotchkiss in her unceasing efforts to liberate Miss Farmer from her confinement in an insane hospital, and place her where she would receive intelligent care in accordance with the most enlightened modern methods.

LOOKS GLOOMY For the Latest in Woman's Garb at Concord.

According to the latest from the Concord Sunset League the people of the capital city are not as wholeheartedly impressed with the present wearing apparel of women and it is understood that an ordinance will be introduced in the city government that will regulate the rig of the opposite sex. The ordinance is expected to read as follows:

No silhouette skirts.

Skirts must end at the shoe tops. No transparent stockings.

Arms must be covered by at least kimono sleeves.

Waists must cover the bosom.

Skirts must conceal curves rather than reveal them.

The women say that they will exert every influence to defeat the ordinance.

RAILROADS MAINTAIN THEY ARE UNDERPAID

At Least $15,000,000 Per Year for Carrying of Mails.

"The railroads maintain that at present they are underpaid, by at least $15,000,000 per year. Their complaint is not against the standard of measuring such mail service as paid for, but that a very large amount of service is demanded for which the nation makes no payment whatever."

Such is the purport of a statement today by the Railway Mail Committee of the 261 principal American railroads with over 215,000 miles of line. The committee was appointed by the railroads to present their plea for increased compensation to the Congressional Committee of Inquiry of which former Senator Jonathan E. Bourne of Oregon is chairman.

Several hearings have been held by the committee. The post office department was represented by 2nd Asst. Postmaster General Stewart, and the Interstate Commerce Commission by Professor Max O. Lorenz, Associate Statistician. The railroads have now planned to place their case before the public, and it is in accordance with that plan that the statement is issued today by their committee. The statement follows:

"To carry the people's mail quickly, safely, and frequently is a social obligation which the railroads freely concede. It is a service voluntarily performed, for no law compels a railroad company to carry mails unless it contracts to do so. The courts hold, however, that if the railroads so contract they must do so on terms named by

OLD ORIENTAL WEAPONS.

Fine Collection Formed by George Kennan, Recently Landed to the National Museum.

A remarkable collection of old weapons secured by George Kennan, the celebrated writer and traveler, during one of his trips to Russia, has recently been loaned to the national museum at Washington by Mr. Kennan, and installed in the new building of the museum. The greater part of the weapons were originally gathered by Prince Paskovich of Russia, a noted collector, from whom Mr. Kennan bought them a good many years ago. While there are many and diverse examples of ancient and primitive work in the other museum building with the antique exhibits, these pieces are of special interest in relation to their original owners, or as examples of the art development of the periods they represent.

The collection comprises about 58 objects, and includes mainly of oriental weapons, comprising sabres, daggers, yataghans, pistols and guns, all richly mounted, and some having blades and hilts of unusual interest on account of the inscriptions they bear in

Pinch Hitter McCormick of the Giants Has Little to do Except Swing His Bat

New York, July 26—His name is Harry McCormick, but he is usually called Moose. He is the official pinch hitter for the Giants, and he pinch hits with vigor and precision. When a left is really needed, and the batter up is a weak one, McCormick slowly ambles to the plate, knocks the ball far as he can, makes to first or second and then surrenders the base to a faster runner. Should he be inserted in the game regularly, it would be in the out field, but he is slow on his feet and does not get in to play except when the regular outfielders are disabled. So the official figures showed that when McCormick had been in thirty-four games, he had been at bat only forty-three times. He is a sort of success-to Duke Criss, once famous as the pinch hitter for the St. Louis Browns who was carried along to ward when needs were needed. Duke, however, could pitch, and he had played first base and the outfield with tolerable success. The author hopes is the one that adorns McCormick's face when somebody says something about the money coming from the world's championship.

The Big Newspaper On the I. W. W.

The Metropolitan press, and, in fact, all the newspapers, are now telling the people what a mistake has been made by labor in following certain agitators. While these same "fakers" were working in Lawrence the Boston press was running portraits and sketches and did not criticize their methods nor advise the poor employes as they should. The following paragraph from an editorial in the Boston Herald would have been worth a great deal to these people during the Lawrence riots.

"In Paterson, as in Ipswich and Milford, the I. W. W. admits the complete collapse of its strike program. The Ipswich and Milford strikes resulted in much bitterness and violence and in serious loss to all concerned. The strikers, poor dupes of demagogic and mercenary I. W. W. orators, began straggling back to work after weeks of idleness that cost them all they had and gained them nothing. All are loudly cursing the irresponsible and oily-tongued agitators who led them from their work without reason, took their money and gave them in return only the hot air of platitudinous tommyrot. But the Milford and Ipswich strikes were small affairs in comparison with that at Paterson, where 23,000 silk mill workers have been in idleness and semi-starvation for 22 weeks, with only riots to vary the monotony of the rolling eloquence of Haywood, Quinlan and Elizabeth Flynn. The great strike with all its loss and lawlessness helped to advertise these people and so tickled their vanity. It accomplished nothing for their ignorant, suffering dupes who lost $5,250,000 in wages in the 22 weeks. The average daily wage of the men strikers was $2.30 and of the women $1.75, and they will keep more of their money for their own uses henceforth and contribute less to the pockets of I. W. W. orators.

"There can be only pity for the victims of the I. W. W.—an organization that does not honestly aim to improve the condition of labor, but only to overthrow law and bring about anarchy in industry as in society. It is well for the country that the I. W. W. has failed in the great Paterson strike, and that it is forced to admit its failure. In every industrial centre the story should be told and retold till the working classes of America recognize that the I. W. W. is their most dangerous enemy."

The New Railroad Head.

The press of New England will extend to Howard Elliott the new head of the New England railroads, a hearty welcome and with, as generally understood, Timothy E. Byrnes, the acting head, and Elliott, chairman of the board, the success of the new management is assured. Mr. Byrnes is first of all a New England man; he knows the public pulse and he understands most thoroughly the New England situation. He has long taken a more liberal idea of what the situation demanded and has been popular with the press and the public. No railroad man in New England has a stronger connection with the public than Mr. Byrnes.

Mr. Elliott intends to work many reforms and in his work he will have the hearty support of the public.

Poor Old Massachusetts.

The Boston press now intimates that "Genie" Foss is making love to the Bull Moose and the work of exposing another "gold brick" is working smoothly. Poor old Massachusetts and Boston. How they have been buncoed for all these years. There ought to be a commission appointed by the other New England states to deliver the Old Bay State back into the hands of the people. The political fakirs operating in the name of the people are operating the ship dangerously near the rocks. Why don't some one wake up and amend the constitution and have state elections every two years and give the people a rest and put the political fraglers out of business?

We Get the Cream.

We learn from the Des Moines Register and Leader that "A Portland, N. H., milkman named Spiller has been fined for selling watered milk." So it appears, not only the Portsmouth navy yard, but the Forest City of Maine, is in New Hampshire.—Manchester Union.

We don't care if the Maine papers persist in claiming the Portsmouth navy yard, so long as Portsmouth gets the cream.

Will Not Lack for Work.

If the members of the house naval committee do their duty Portsmouth will not want for work at her navy yard.

THE SEA

The seal the seal the open seal!
The blue, the fresh, the ever-free!
Without a mark, without a bound,
It runneth the earth's wide regions round!

It plays with the clouds; it mocks the skies;
Or like a cradle creature lies,

I'm on the seal I'm on the seal!
I am where I would ever be;
With the blue above and the blue below.

And whence wheresoe'er I go,
If a storm should come and awake the deep,
What matter? I shall ride and sleep.

I love, O I love to ride
On the fierce, foaming, hurrying tide.
When every mad wave drowns the moon
Or whistles aloft his tempest tune,
And tells how goeth the world below,
And why the southwest blasts do blow.

I never was on the dull, tame, shore,
But I love the great sea more and more,
And backwards flew to her billowy breast,
Like a bird that seeketh its mother's nest;
And a mother she was, and is to me;
For I was born on the ocean sea.

The waves were white, and red the morn,
In the baby hour when I was born;
And the whole it whispered, the pop-pole rolled,
And the dolphins bared their backs of gold;
And never was heard such an outcry wild,
As welcomed to life the ocean child!

I've lived since then, in calm and strife,
Full fifty summers a sailor's life
With wealth to spend and a power to range,
But have never sought nor tried for change;
And Death, whenever he comes to me,
Shall come on the wild, unbounded sea!

—Brynn Walter Proctor.

Binghamton Fire Horror That Cost 50 Girls' Lives; Like That of the Asch Building Holocaust.

Similar in many respects to the Asch building fire in New York city, in which more than 100 lives were lost, was the fire which destroyed the four story brick factory building of the Binghamton Clothing company at Binghamton, N. Y., taking a toll of fifty lives. As in the case of the New York holocaust, most of the victims were girls. Scores were hurt in the panic stricken rush for the escapes and in jumping from the third and fourth floors. Read H. Freeman, president of the company, says that familiarity with fire drills had caused his employees to become almost indifferent to alarms from the system installed in obedience to the state authorities and that to this fact can be attributed the heavy loss of life, the victims mistaking the first alarm for a fire drill summons.

A GOOD CARD.

Gallant and Murphy to Box Twelve Rounds Before Atlas A. A.

A 12-round bout between Gilbert Gallant of Chelsea and Eddie Murphy of South Boston, and three 6-round bouts between well-matched boxers with good reputations, comprises the card offered by the Atlas A. A. of Boston for their show next Tuesday night at the Boston Arena.

Gilbert Gallant and Eddie Murphy have been rivals for years in the lightweight class and have been hurling challenges at each other for the past twelve months. The slight difference in weight has kept them as far apart as if they were at opposite ends of the earth, instead of living within two miles of each other. Matchmakers of different clubs in New England have repeatedly tried to get them together, and it finally had with the manager of the Atlas A. A., the leading club in the east, to secure the boys' signatures.

Harry Dillon of Philadelphia meets Charley Sheppard of New York in the first 6-round bout. Patsey Delucca of Boston meets Young Kenney of Woburn in the second 6-round bout. The other 6-round event will be between Eddie Smiley, the best featherweight in Uncle Sam's navy, and Joe Boudreau of Medford.

Use Gun Calsson for power. The French soldiers convert the gun calsson into an observation tower by turning its shaft upward and equipping it with a ladder and platform.

Traveling Bed for Baby.

Traveling with a tiny baby will be made much easier by fitting a small hair mattress into a suit case. The one used in a baby carriage will do. It will be very comfortable for the baby to lie on whenever the suit case could be opened. The large cambric pocket in the cover to contain all the clothes and small things to be used for the baby on the journey. When not in use the case may be closed and easily put out of the way.

Kept Scholars at Work.

In Scotland up to the middle of the eighteenth century, the usual school hours were from 6 a. m. till 6 p. m., with two breaks of an hour earlier and worked so long as daylight lasted. No alteration in the hours was made on Saturday, and even on Sunday a certain amount of school work was done. The holidays were restricted to a day at Candlemas and at Whitsun, and a fortnight in the autumn.

Ancient Time-Telling Methods.

The invention of the sun dial is generally attributed to a Grecian astronomer who died about 647 B. C. The dial was followed by the hour glass and this by the water clock, which marked time by the escape of water through an orifice. These were introduced into Rome about 158 B. C., but are believed to have been in use in Chaldea and Egypt for a hundred years previous to that date.

Have Learned Nothing of Dreams.

Dr. W. E. Scripture of New York says that ambidextrous persons never dream, while right-handed persons dream with the right hemisphere of the brain, because they use the left brain lobe for conscious thinking. Comparatively speaking, he said, modern scientists know as little about dreams as man did when the first sleeper had his first dream.

RAILROADS MAINTAIN

the government.

"Though surrounded by these anomalous conditions, the railroads have without stint placed their resources at the disposal of the nation to develop to the highest possible state of efficiency. This service has been paid for at a price fixed by the government, a price from which the carriers have had no appeal.

The United States government in 1912 paid the railways $51,687,374.19 for carrying mails. This was about 20.95 per cent of all postal revenue. In 1904 the railways had received 31 per cent of the postal revenues. In the same year, 1901, the Joint Committee to Investigate the Postal Service of which Senator Wolcott was chairman, reported to congress its opinion that the prices now paid to the railroads for the transportation of the mails are not excessive. Yet in 1913 the Postmaster General by administrative order, reduced railway mail pay by nearly $5,000,000—about ten per cent, more by reductions in rates of pay for carrying the mails and for the use of postal cars.

The railroads maintain that at present they are underpaid at least $15,000,000 per year. It is their belief that a fair adjustment would require that the government should pay the railroads for all services which they render."

ELKS EXCURSION TO THE SHOALS

Over a hundred people went on the excursion to the Isles of Shoals on Friday evening, under the auspices of the Portsmouth Lodge of Elks Social club. It was a very early start and the trip out and back on the steamer was greatly enjoyed.

The party stopped at the Oceanic hotel where dancing was enjoyed until eleven o'clock, the hotel orchestra furnishing excellent music. This is the first of a series of parties and the first was such a success the others are sure to be largely attended.

COMPLAINS OF HORSES.

Navy Yard Says Odors and Noise Must Stop.

War has been declared the Charlestown navy yard has been ordered to stop the noise and odors of the O'Brien's cavalry is at the gate, and General O'Brien says he is going to stay there.

With the crash of war, Commander J. W. Coffman made a sortie yesterday which resulted in Assistant Post, Atty. W. H. Garland asking the United States District court to issue an injunction against General O'Brien from keeping horses in the brick stable on Wapping street.

Charlestown, which backs up to the navy yard wall.

General O'Brien has reinforcements of formidable fighting powers in the Boston Board of Health infantry which a little over a week ago gave him a permit to keep his horses in the stable.

On the other hand Commander Coffman has pressed Secretary of the Navy Daniels and the National Department of Justice into service.

The navy yard authorities charge that the O'Brien cavalry, consisting of 81 horses, situated on the second floor of the stable are violating the rules of war by attempting to asphyxiate the inmates of the navy yard through the constant of peculiar horse odors throughout the yard, which resemble no particular animal or essence of excretion.

In the meantime Commander Coffman says that life has been unbearable at the navy yard. Commander Broderick, whose home backs up to the stable says there isn't a word in the English language that would properly describe the situation.

"The horses squeal and make an awful racket," said Commander Coffman in the post reporter yesterday. "The families of the officers can't sleep, and that odor, why I can describe it as a war."

"You see," continued Captain Coffman, "the windows of the stable are right over the wall of the navy yard. The odors sweep right across the 50 yards into the back windows of the officers' quarters. Then again, right at the entrance gate 15 men, taking turns of guard sleep. There is no

Provisional President Huerta Embracing Orozco, Former Chieftain of Mexican Revolutionists.

Mexico has come back into the news, centering renewed interest upon Provisional President Huerta and General Orozco, his military adviser. At the left in the picture is shown the ruler who supplanted the slain Modern granting the former rebel leader Mexican fashion. General Orozco has been called "the man who never smiles." No person in the republic of Mexico has a greater influence over the native Mexicans, and because of their bitterness over the refusal of the administration at Washington to recognize the Huerta government and the calling home of Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson he found it as a commanding figure in a situation the seriousness of which was admitted in diplomatic circles.

CADILLAC'S ANNOUNCEMENT AROUSSES KEEN INTEREST

Motorist Eager To Know What 1914 Innovations Portend

The automobile world, always susceptible to changes and innovations, has put on tender hooks by the preliminary announcement of the Cadillac Motor Car Co., referring to certain progressive developments which will distinguish the 1914 Cadillac, the evolution of which will soon be revealed.

These advances in the industry, and Cadillac as well, are always keenly anxious about contemplating motor car improvements and what they portend, but this interest is whetted to its keenest edge when the Cadillac announces a new series because of the position the company occupies in the history of the development of the motor car. The reason is obvious; conservatism has been complete with Cadillac. Henry M. Leland, advisory manager of the Cadillac, the founder and guiding spirit of the concern, is an extremely conservative man with half a century of experience in the mechanical world, yet he has been called the "youngest" in the automobile industry today. In the affairs of the Cadillac, there has been a wholehearted and the merely temporary in innovation. But the company, nevertheless, has from time to time played the role of pioneer and has inaugurated several important epochs in the development of the motor car. One of these epochs illustrates in an especially significant manner the reason for the public attitude toward this company. It was two years ago that the Cadillac had the honor of being first to introduce an automobile electrical crank and lighting system. It was a revolution in efficiency and comfort. As there have been many other progressive features that developed in this car, the more now is naturally voiced each year.

A CASE OF TOO MUCH CHICKEN

When Senator Tillman, who is on a diet by order of his physician, declared somewhat provokingly that "the art of frying chicken was unknown in Washington," he had not reckoned with the housewives of the District of Columbia, many of them Southerners and jealously of their ability to cook chicken in any fashion. As a result, the South Carolina statesman has been inundated with "fried chicken." They come by parcel post, and by messengers, until even the senator's committee room takes on the appearance of a cooking kitchen. At first Senator Tillman sought to return the gifts, but few had the name of the donors on them, although many contained notes defying the senator to decay the fowls or to cook them. As a result the committee room waste basket is continually filled with chicken bones, and committee clerks and Senate attendants impressed to aid in keeping up with the incoming supply, are hearing a state of rebellion. "If you wish to inaugurate a real reign of terror," suggested a colleague of Senator Tillman today, "sizzle like a hen in the corridor just outside the senator's door." So far no one has been found sufficiently intrepid to try it.

There are three essentials in the successful canning of fruit. These are to use perfectly fresh fruit, from from

AMERICAN FORESTERS HELP PALESTINE

An agricultural colony in Palestine has just applied to the U. S. forest service for help in planting trees to bind the drifting sands of the Mediterranean. The colony is near Jaffa, or Yafa, the ancient Joppa of the Bible, and there is being developed in connection with it a seaside resort, with hotel, villas, bath houses, and gardens.

The experts of the service point out that the reclamation of sand dunes is not a serious problem in the eastern United States because the prevailing winds are from the land and the sand is blown into the sea. On the west coast the situation is more serious. The most notable example of reclaimed sand areas there is furnished by Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, where grasses, acacias, and, later, trees and shrubs have converted sand wastes into pleasure grounds of great beauty.

The attention of the Palestine colony is called to the wonderful reclamation of the Landes, France, where a wealth-producing forest of fast-growing pine, the spruce of the French tropics, has been grown to take the place of shifting dunes. The American foresters also give the address of the French seedsmen who furnished this government with the machine seed which has been used in planting experiments on the Pechu national forest, near the Gulf coast.

DOING UP FRUIT

It is well to look at all canned or preserved fruit a week or so after it is made, by that time all diseases will have risen. If they are to appear, when these are evident each the fruit is safe.

In making marmalades or preserves, it is well to put the fruit and sugar into the kettle in alternate layers. The fruit, of course, is put in first, stir occasionally, to prevent the mixture catching.

It is always a good plan to rinse the preserving kettle with cold water. The moisture on the bottom and side is a factor in preventing the fruit burning.

In making jelly for the fruit juice drip through the jelly bag. When no more drips easily the remainder of the liquid may be squeezed, but keep this liquid separate. Use it in making marmalade or a second grade jelly. It will taste as well but will not be so clear as the drip jelly.

CHINESE HUSBANDS

American Wife of Celestial Finds Him Ideal.

George Gould's Sister-in-Law Praises Spouse Who Cast Her Family and Friends—Says Men of Her Own Race Are Bored.

San Francisco, Cal.—"The world may give the laurel to the American husband, but I am glad I married a Chinaman. Of course, I can only speak for myself and though I would never take the responsibility of advising anyone to marry as I did, yet I have certainly found that the Chinese make ideal husbands.

"In missionary experience I found that there happiness is the rule, not the exception. Divorce or separation are very rare. My home life is at least the equal of any American home I have ever known."

Mrs. Wong Sue You Clemens is a cultured, well-educated white woman, the sister of Mrs. Howard Gould, who six years ago became the wife of a Chinese merchant. Her home today is a little shop in the heart of San Francisco's Chinatown.

"I find the American men great bores. They have no conversational resources outside of their individual interests. Their women are kept at their wits' end amusing and entertaining them.

"But the Chinese are very versatile and the most striking people in the world. To them everything has a meaning. For instance, this is a real brotherhood table. There are no edges to friendship, so the Chinese never eat at square tables. It seems a small thing, but there is a certain fineness and sentiment among the better class of Chinese which characterizes everything they do. Indeed, I have only one regret, that I did not have the courage to take this step in my early youth."

Mrs. Wong has adopted the Chinese dress, which she likes as she likes everything Chinese.

"To me there is nothing unusual in what I did," she continued. "The Chinese are the kindest people in the world and their regard for women is most reverent. Their ideal never permits a man to disrespect a woman who respects herself. I think this is more than we can say of our countrymen."

"The Chinese woman is the mistress of her home and she is as much a coquette, as much a side-stepper of whatever does not suit her, as her American sisters. What is even more, the husband can not endure to see her do physical labor."

Mr. Wong is a suave, good-humored, easy-mannered oriental.

"I have not seen my mother for six years. My family bitterly opposed my marriage and I learn of them only through others. I did not try to keep any of my friends. I knew I was ostracized when I married my husband. But I do not think my loss is to be compared with my gain. This little store, hung with the treasures we dug from the ruins, bounds my world. But it is very rich, for it contains a friend. When husband and wife are perfect comrades they do not need others. Only the unhappy are dissatisfied; we are supremely happy. "If I had married 20 years ago instead of six we would have nothing left to wish for."

DOG SACRIFICES ITS LIFE

Little Canine Makes Vain Attempt to Save Owner in Burning House.

London.—A touching story of a Pomeranian dog's vain attempt to save the life of its owner, who was fatally burned in a fire at Grosvenor-gardens, recently, is being told here.

The victim of the fire was Mrs. Southgate, young wife of a chauffeur in the service of Count Apponyi. She was seen by a policeman standing at a window with her clothes in flames.

While the officer and a chauffeur were breaking down the front door the little dog was seen jumping up at the window, barking frantically. He then rushed back to his mistress and apparently attempted to put out her burning clothing with his paws.

When an entrance was effected the woman was found to be in a dying condition and the little dog was dead.

BOY HELD AS 'BLACKMAILER'

Telegraph Runner, Aged Fifteen, Confesses to Attempted Extortion in London.

Paris.—A telegraph boy, aged fifteen, was arrested on a charge of attempted blackmail. He, and his comrades at a branch postoffice had been in the habit of opening telegrams and reading them. In this way the boy learned of an intrigue that was being carried on by a married woman. He wrote demanding $30 as the price of his silence, but his letter fell into the hands of the woman's uncle, who gave him in charge. The lad confessed, but the woman declined to prosecute.

MANY VACANCIES IN WEST POINT APPOINTMENTS

Washington, July 25.—To carry out the intent of Congress that nominees for admission to the Military Academy at West Point, shall have ample opportunity to prepare themselves for the severe entrance examinations, the War Department has published a list of the vacancies for which candidates have not yet been designated by Senators and Congressmen.

The entrance examinations will take place next March. Twenty-six Senators so far have not made nominations, and in 41 states and the Territory of Alaska nowhere from one to 14 Congressional districts remain unrepresented on the list of candidates. In Pennsylvania alone there are 13 vacancies, in New York 14 and in Illinois 12.

In the New England states candidates for West Point vacancies have not been nominated as follows: One each by Senators Burleigh of Maine, Hollis of New Hampshire, Dillingham of Vermont, Weeks of Massachusetts and McLean of Connecticut. Nor have candidates been nominated from these Congressional Districts: 1st and 2d Maine, 1st and 2d New Hampshire, 2d, 3d, 6th, 11th, 12th, 14th, and 15th Massachusetts, 3d Rhode Island, 2d and 4th Connecticut.

DECORATION OF THE VERANDA

The large veranda which is to be used as an outdoor living room should be at the side or back of the house if possible. In front we do not need more than a little square porch with two palm trees for a hint of talk with the passing guest. The real business of living outdoors is reserved for a more private place. Haven't you had the double pleasure of calling, only to find the whole family lounging in the hammocks on the front porch, scattering hurriedly when you come up the front walk? This is the most profitable reception in the world, but what else can you do when there is only one veranda, and that a very public place?

The porch must not only be inviting, but it must give you the comfort it promises, says a Delinator writer. It must be as cool, as clean and as gay as you can make it. A screen of some kind is imperative, whether a lattice covered with vines, awnings of hanging screens of bamboo or the slat like strips of wood. Screens not only offer shadow; they temper the heat of the sun.

Standing screens of lattice work are very successful if they are well planned and securely placed, so that they will not be pulled away by the growth of the vines upon them, or by the strength of the wind. Where roses are to be planted around a porch, these lattice screens are the best solution of the problem. You can do what you like with color schemes inside your house, but when you are planning the color scheme of your porch you must consider the colors nature has given you, to build on. I think the nicest of all colors for porch furniture, awning, etc., are white, gray, brown, light green, and very dark green. The light green should be the color of green apples, pears, or lettuce—if you are uncertain of the tone I mean. The dark green should be the soft, velvety tone of the evergreen tree—the boxwood, olive, gardenia, japonica, laurel, or any such green. Nature will take care of the other colors you may need.

For some strange reason, four perches out of five seem to have turkey red cotton cushions on the chairs, and red and white striped awnings, the only excuse being that turkey red is advertised as a "fast" color, and it is believed by people who do not think for themselves, to be "cheerful." Why should we bring the warmest of all colors into the place that is supposed to be coolest and most restful? Those are the people who plead for the combination of red and green, arguing that "this is a nice contrast." They quote to you the decorator's advice "Go to Nature for your color scheme." Certainly if we could manage our reds and greens as nature manages them, we might be pardoned the use of this combination. But we can't do it, so we had better leave it to nature. She will do it for us in a flower box of red geraniums, and white daisies. We will get all the red we need in such flowers and in the plain earthenware pots, and perhaps in the dark red brown tiles of our floor. We must remember always that green is the dominant outdoor color. Nature provides pleasant greens, and we must not destroy her fine harmony by introducing vivid fabrics colored with cheap dyes. Our awnings should be green and white, or brown and white—some cool color, our cushions and rugs and things of green, or brown, or gray—the natural tones of wood, or stone, or foliage.

A new house will probably have its porches floored with the tile, bricks or cement, but most of the porches we know are made up of ordinary boards that have had many coats of paint. When you are repainting the floor, tones of gray are good colors, and there are certain shades of green that are also very good. If any rugs are used they should be rugs that will not be injured by rain or dirt. Grass ones are excellent.

ARTICLES FOR GUEST ROOM

The housewife who is interested in her home and desires to have it comfortable and comfortable to her guests, should be well equipped with every thing which the visitor may need. Do not provide covers for pin cushions, glovebox or scarfs which cannot be freshly laundered after the departure of each guest. Silk or chiffon covers are lovely but extremely impracticable. An attractive glove case can be made from a piece of white linen or hollyhock square.

Divide the side in three equal sections and fold the end down over to resemble the flap of an envelope. On this sturdy neat design, and round the corners, scalloping the edge. Whistling the two side sections together and hem the outside using featherstitching to hold it in place. Embroider the scallops and design with white mercerized cotton or silk of a color to match the predominating tone used in the room.

NEW THINGS FOR THE TABLE

The latest thing for serving corn on the cob is a neat little frame of silver wire fitted at either end with sharp prongs which hold the corn in place. These frames are adjustable in length and actually slowly revolve.

Some of the newest silver candlesticks are patterned after the old colonial candlesticks of pewter which hold the big bayberry candles. They are double affairs the outer covers of the holders being of pierced silver. The bases are very wide and flat and there are high colonial handles. Some of them have the silver snuffers mounted at one side. Minneapolis Journal.

ANXIOUS TO BEGIN WORK AT ONCE

Manchester, July 25.—Manchester people who are interested in the new highway from this city to the ocean will be greatly pleased to learn that the state engineer, E. Perry Hooker, will do everything in his power to start work on this important piece of highway at a very early date. In fact he is anxious to begin at once.

Under the provisions of the law at least one half of the amount of money necessary to construct the highway is to be paid by the state and the other half by the towns, through which it passes. In the matter of the construction of this proposed highway, the towns must take the initiative, and they must first raise their share of the money. Already the towns of Candia, Raymond and Epping have voted a certain amount of money for this work. Raymond has raised $108,150 and the state will put in as much more. This work in Raymond will be done this year, and that town has decided to have the town's share expended this money and build the road, which will be done under supervision of the state and this will be augmented by a like sum from the state, and the chance are that the work of building the state road in this town will be constructed directly under the state authority and by contract.

State Engineer Hooker is now taking the matter up with the selectmen of Candia and is endeavoring to get them to come into line with their money, so that work can be started this summer in that town.

The town of Auburn at the last March meeting, raised $2200 to be spent for highway improvements. It was not specified that it was to be used for the improvement of the parties bar road, which will be traversed by the state highway but Mr. Hooker said that he would immediately get in touch with the authorities of the town of Auburn and see if there was no way that could be evolved where by this money raised could be transferred and used upon the proposed state road, which would obviate the necessity of putting off the work in that town until next year.

He will also endeavor to get the Brentwood officials interested and will do everything possible to get a good start on the highway there this summer.

It is the intention to construct the new highway of gravel on some good banks have been found in various towns which have been used for years in road-building and repairing. The town of Epping has already about two miles of gravel road constructed, and it has been built from a most excellent quality of material and has stood automobile traffic unusually well.

SITUATION MORE QUIET

With Sec. of State Bryan back in the Capital, ready to take up the Mexican situation with President Wilson when Ambassador Wilson reaches Washington, the situation in the south ern Republic was declared today to be more quiet than at any time in the past six weeks. The advice received by the Administration during the last 24 hours indicate that both factions in Mexico are keenly watching the progress of events here.

The mediation proposal has aroused great interest here, and it is said by prominent members of the Mexican colony here, that if the United States can suggest some way whereby a fair election can be secured, it will be certain of acceptance.

It was believed today that after hearing from the returning ambassador, President Wilson will send a personal representative to Mexico City to check up on the situation. This representative will probably be John H. Lamb of Terre Haute, Ind., who has been selected to be Henry Lane Wilson's successor if one is to be named.

It was said today that no formal charges have been preferred against Ambassador Wilson, despite the presence of stories to the contrary. There has been much gossip about his alleged friendship with the Huerta administration.

I WONDER

If the Boy Scouts of Portsmouth will come back?

Why the street railway and the public works department don't find out which is responsible for those mud holes at the junction of Deer and Market streets and fill them in?

What would happen if all the changes that the railroad expect come true?

What is the camping ground for spooning parties now?

Why the two men that are to run for that prize of $50.00 need so many trainers?

If the Portsmouth Lodge of Elks won't do the honors in good style when the state association meets here?

If another title would not have been better for the lady police officer?

If her work among young girls is not badly needed?

If that well known stable man has got that fast team ready to meet the 15th?

When those two baseball teams from the Jones and Portsmouth (Brewing Co.) will meet in battle on the diamond?

Who can give us the correct date of the day when the toll bridges surrounding Portsmouth will be free?

Where the veteran firemen sit in the coming winter?

What's the latest place for an acrobatic sight?

Where that "Smoke-Thief" quartet got those selections which they rendered on the excursion to the Isles of Shoals on Friday night?

Why so many of our crack baseball players are in the game away from home every Saturday and why they can't get together and give the local people some good games for the week-end?

Not only will no objection be made by the department to the application of the law by the state authorities to cases where clerks are employed partially in postoffice work and partially in work relating to stores or other business places in which post-offices are located, but the department will be glad to co-operate with state authorities in enforcing state laws on this subject."
